

Michael D. Ferrell

Michael Ferrell, a business transition specialist at ConsultKAP, has extensive experience helping companies enhance their value through innovative business strategies. Over his career, Michael has worked for several international companies (e.g., Nissan, McKinsey & Company and Nestle) and he has also owned two small businesses. He has held several director level positions and he has worked as a management consultant serving Fortune 500 companies. Michael has experience in multiple business disciplines as a result of his roles in operations, finance, sales and marketing. He has worked in a total of eight foreign countries and a variety of industries (e.g., automotive, consumer packaged goods, electronics, pharmaceutical, steel, pulp & paper and marine). As a result of this cumulative business experience, Michael has developed a distinctive set of business skills and knowledge which serves his clients well as they seek advice on how best to transition into or out of a business.

Michael has a BS in Mechanical Engineering and has completed McKinsey & Company's internal "Mini-MBA" program. He also serves on the board of directors for Abba House which is a long-term ministry program for women suffering from addiction and/or abuse. Michael and his wife Lisa attend Browns Bridge Community Church with their three children. Michael's hobbies include weightlifting, golf and basketball.
